Do you know what your business is worth? Whether determining value for a potential M&A transaction or simply because of internal requirements, your business value could vary depending on your objectives, your potential market of buyers and other factors. We will discuss different approaches to valuing your business and how you can plan today to potentially create value for a future transition. Attend this presentation to learn:

➢ Why and how businesses are valued
➢ General market overview of M&A valuations and trends
➢ Factors that enhance or reduce business value
➢ Overview of the M&A process, buyer types and how it drives value
➢ How to plan for and create value for a future business transition
