13th Annual Dinner—A Family’s Heritage

Bridgewood Resort Hotel, Neenah
May 11, 2009, 5:30—9:00 pm

The Forum’s annual dinner is designed to provide families time for socializing, celebrating, learning, and auction bidding with other family business members and sponsors.

The evening will begin with a social hour at 5:30 pm, with dinner following at 6:30 pm.

During dessert, a brief business meeting will include awarding two $500 scholarships for fall 2009, recognizing members and sponsors that successfully recruited new members during the year, surprising someone, or several people, with induction into the Forum Fellows, and recognizing long-term members and sponsors for their commitment and service.

By about 7:30 pm, we plan to introduce our dinner speaker, Mark Skogen, president/CEO of Festival Foods. Mark will be speaking about his family’s planning and continuing efforts for the transition of ownership and leadership of their business. We are sure you will find his presentation both interesting and relevant.

Invitations with meal choices were sent to all members, sponsors, and former members in April. We encourage everyone to make their reservations as early as possible through the website. If you need any additional information, please contact Donna Nelson at nelsond@uwosh.edu or 920-424-1541.

2nd Annual Silent Auction

Bridgewood Resort Hotel, Neenah
May 11, 2009, 5:30—7:30 pm

The Silent Auction will again benefit the Forum’s scholarship fund. With the effect the economy has had on investment, financing, and college costs, students need financial support as much, if not more, than ever before. Your continued commitment to this fund is very important.

If you haven’t already made a donation to the Silent Auction, the Silent Auction Committee, headed by Diane Roundy of Schenck Business Solutions, will be contacting you for a donation.

Donations should be items that you know members and sponsors would bid on. Creative donation ideas may include spa packages, tailgate parties, theater tickets, shopping sprees, wine baskets, etc. Whatever you decide to contribute, please be generous as it benefits the scholarship fund.

The Silent Auction will run during the early part of the evening with the closing bid before the dinner speaker begins. To some of us who enjoy a little competitive shopping, the bidding portion of the auction provides added fun.

We urge everyone to come prepared to make good competitive bids designed to generate funds for scholarships.

Transitioning Ownership within the Family

Ninety people—members, sponsors and guests, attended this program on March 26 to discuss this transition which is so vital to the continued survival of a family owned business.
Moderated by Dale Feinauer, owner panelists—Jerry DeLeers, Mark Lasky, David Plank, Jim Simpson, and Vicky Wuest, talked about the transfer of ownership and leadership in their families. Overall the panelists provided first-hand insight into communications, agreements, successes, challenges, and lessons learned as they made a transfer and/or are planning the next one.

Following the panel, Spencer Bonnie of Pathmakers, Inc. emphasized the need to clarify vision and goals within and across generations. Accurate, clear communications are vital to a transition that supports the health of the business and the family.

The next generation attendees participated in the “Buyers Workshop.” Tim Vogelsang, Tim McCoy and Pam Schneider provided guidelines to help the next generation understand issues of concern to them.

The current leadership generation attended the “Sellers Workshop” led by Scott Yukel, Adrian Ulatowski, Chris Platten and Craig Smith.

Throughout the morning, the message was that this transition is a process, not an event. Both the buyers and sellers were encouraged to communicate expectations and concerns openly, use outside experts to gather and filter accurate information, and recognize that, to be done effectively, this transition takes years rather than days.

The audio of this program can be accessed by members and sponsors through the Forum’s “Members Only” site and via CD from Donna Nelson.

Recruitment Incentive Program

Everyone likes a win-win situation and this is definitely one of those! This incentive program lets each member and sponsor organization earn credit toward their next year’s fee while enhancing the value of the Forum’s experiences, expertise, and dialogue by adding new family business members.

What’s the Reward?

For every new member that credits your organization with their recruitment as a Forum member, your business will receive a credit toward your next year’s fee equivalent to 1/3 of the new member’s fee.

This offer applies to up to a maximum of three new members per recruiting member per year. So, with three new, paid members to your credit, your fee for the next year could be entirely, or almost entirely, covered. As membership fees vary by size of business, the amount credited will vary by new member size. Your credit will be limited to no more than your total annual fee.

Who is eligible:

Every member and sponsor organization is eligible and encouraged to earn the rewards.

How to earn the reward:

Invite a prospective family business member to be your guest at a Forum program and encourage them to become a member. (A prospective business is limited to attending one program as a guest.) Tell them why you benefit from Forum participation and how it will help their family and business. If they credit you with their recruitment, you will be rewarded.

Membership growth adds more experiences and networking opportunities for everyone’s benefit!

Having a clearly communicated vision and mission statement is cited as an important component of a healthy family business culture. When this question was raised over the past 60 or so days, here are the results we received. Is this something you should work on?

Best Practice Session

Thanks to the coordination efforts and moderation of Merry Whipple of member Xeric Web® Drying Systems, our April 2nd Best Practice provided members and sponsors the opportunity to ask questions and share significant concerns about the Employee Free Choice legislation. With the help of Donsia Strong-Hill of Godfrey & Kahn, we looked at the legislative process and the three places that we might most successfully influence the decisions regarding a bill. We also heard from the legislative aids for Representatives Kagen and Petri and Senator Kohl regarding the best ways to communicate with them.

The session brought awareness to the many rumors, concerns, and unknowns related to this legislation. We were referred to the issues section of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce’s website, www.uschamber.com, as a good place to keep track of this and other national issues.
Peer Groups
During this year, 83% of all member organizations participated in one or more of the peer groups. According to peer group evaluation comments, the groups provide
- Content that is extremely timely
- Organized information
- Extremely helpful answers to questions
- Good first-hand knowledge
- Interaction within the group
- Real-life stories and examples
- Lots of great information
- Differing views of an issues/topic
Most, but not all, of the groups will take a short hiatus during the summer. If you have been thinking about getting into a group but have questions about what group to join and how the groups work, contact Sue. Most of the groups allow a one-time visit to determine fit.

Director’s Column
Susan Schierstedt
A lot is being written about the economy and its effect on business. What I have found particularly interesting is the number of articles that attribute family ownership and management as key factors to success during these times.
Yes, I have heard members lamenting layoffs. I have heard about sleepless nights spent worrying about the families that depend on the family’s business. I have heard concerns about the pending changes in legislation that threatens and challenges the way we do business. All of this emphasizes the passion and commitment family owners have for their businesses and their employees.
One of the more satisfying things I have heard lately is the benefit Forum members experience from getting together to talk about the issues, to explore opportunities, and to support one another during these times.
Family businesses have a lot going for them. Taking the long-term view, having a vision for the business, desiring to leave a legacy, caring about their employees and their customers, trusting expert advisors, being passionate about the business are all characteristics of family businesses that contribute to success. I commend all of you for working hard to make your business, community and family the best they can be. Where would we be without you?
A new family business resource designed to help family businesses capitalize on these strengths has recently been added to the Web. The Family Business Wiki is designed to enable “sharing family business knowledge around the world.” On May 12, the Family Business Wiki will host its first, free global teleconference entitled “Family Business: In Safe Hands?” This teleconference will be hosted by the Institute for Family Business in London.
On May 26, 2009, Chinese University of Hong Kong will host the topic: “Threats and Opportunities to Family Business in Hong Kong and China.”
On June 12, the family business center directors’ Alliance, of which I am a member, will host a panel discussion, “Advice You Can Trust: Drawing Upon the Collective Wisdom of Peer Networks” from our Alliance meeting in Chicago.
